Mats for Growing Applications

Soil Moist absorb similar to a sponge and hold it in the plant container. Non-toxic crystals are woven into the degradable cloth material. As the soil begins to dry, the mat slowly releases stored water to the soil and the plant's roots over an extended period of time. They reduce plant waterings with less worry and save time and labor. The mats last for several seasons in the soil and are environmentally friendly. The easy to apply mat is ideal for containers, hanging baskets and potted plants for both indoor and outdoor applications. Mats are 7x7". Use one mat for up to a 15-20" container. Vacation mats water for up to 3 weeks.

Tufflite is the original "colorless" polyethylene greenhouse covering. For over twenty years, growers have covered their income (crops) with Tufflite. Tufflite was the first multi-year product incorporating the HALS Formula System (Hindered Amine Light Stabilizer) of ultraviolet inhibitors. All greenhouse coverings feature: Tri Layer extrusion, available up to 50' wide, dust and chemical resistant, one and four year films contain UV Block, conveniently folded for ease of installation, and maximum par transmission. Tufflite IV is a high clarity, four year, 6 mil covering fully warranted for four years. Contains UV block and the anti-dust additive. Also available in white (55% shade), DRIP-LESS and INFRARED.

Aluminum locking channels are recommended for securing Tufflite to the structure. If the locking channel has a plastic liner that contains a plasticizer (or if the framework is PVC pipe), an extra layer of polyethylene film between Tufflite and the plasticized material (or PVC pipe) will alleviate any chemical reactivity with the covering material. Apply a heavy coat of industry approved white latex paint to all locking devices including the poly to approximately 4 inches above the lock. DIRECT CONTACT OF THE POLYETHYLENE WITH PVC PIPE IS NOT RECOMMENDED.

Apply two layers of sheeting or one roll of tubing to form an air space (bubble) in areas where wind imposes repeated stress. Single layer installations may not have sufficient resistance to wind damage due to repeated flexing. GROWERS USE A SINGLE LAYER AT THEIR OWN RISK.

Outside air with its lower moisture content - is recommended for inflation in the "bubble." Warm air from the inside of the greenhouse - with its higher level of moisture - is a source of condensation when it is introduced into the cooler atmosphere in the "bubble." Moisture trapped between the layers of poly, has a tendency to reduce light. Temperatures under the inside layer of covering can reach high levels during daylight hours and there is always the possibility of thermal degradation. Inside air, oxygen rich and often heavily laden with greenhouse chemicals can be another source of premature degradation of the poly. Care should be taken to locate the inflation air intake tube at a point where it will not be blocked by snow or become filled with water. It is important - when introducing the air into the "bubble" - that it be blown in obliquely rather than directly on the film.

Winter Protection Fabric

Winter Protection Fabric is a needle punch non woven type fabric that provides some frost and freeze protection while allowing air and water to pass through the material. Plants can remain covered for long periods of time. We stock light weight 2 oz/sq yard in 12' or 15' size, but we can obtain thicker material. There is no guarantee that plants will not freeze under winter fabric, but it improves survivability. Provides a little extra edge plants may need to survive.

Jiffy Poly-Paks combine all the advantages of natural Jiffy-Pots with the flat filling speed of multipot trays. The ultra-lite carrier sheets use a minimal amount of plastic yet provide excellent plant stability, even in partially empty flats. They also inhibit iner-pot rooting during longer term growing cycles. Sized for 1020 flats unless otherwise indicated.

Myron Agrimeters

The Myron L Agri-meter is a portable hand-held conductivity meter ideal for laboratory use, yet rugged enough for field work. This compact meter is 3"x4"x4" and weighs less than 1lb. It comes complete with internal 9-volt battery ready to use.

AG-6 Meter

Checks soil and water pH and salinity. Checks correct fertilizer concentration. Checks boiler water conductivity. Automatic temperature compensation means no thermometers or adjustments. Only a small amount of soil needed for tests.

MYAG6/PH each 01T489

Buffer and Standard Solutions

The Buffer 7 Solution is used to calibrate the pH cell on the AG6/pH meter. The Standard Solution is used to calibrate the conductivity dial on both the AG5 and the AG6 meters. Both conductivity dials read in millimhos. Millimhos are easily converted to PPM by referring to the bag on most water soluble fertilizers. Peters 20-20-20 for example should read 1.00 E.C. on the conductivity dial at 250 PPM (Nitrogen).
